Easter Hats

That wedding makes a big contrast to the wedding we went to on Saturday. Raquel, the administrator's daughter, ex pupil and teacher in school was married to Charlie. They had met in church and he recently followed her footsteps by going to Chile for 2 years to study theology. They had a long distance relationship in that time. Their wedding was by the edge of the river and as it finished the sunset was incredible.

Church has also kept us busy and we are now preparing the services for Good Friday and Easter Sunday. The ideas are all there but they take a long time to put into order for the computer. We are looking forward to the Bishop's return next week when we can hand over the church rota to Sally once more. Fortunately, we have been able to find enough people to help out over the past months and have even discovered new talent!

On Saturday Mags also spent the morning at Operation Smile where children get operated on for cleft palates. They ask for helpers each year and often our pupils go to translate or just help out!

Charlie and Raquel's wedding

We are both fit and well and enjoying a break. Mags has started on the garden once more as the weeds took over after so much rain. Gwen is hoping for a cool evening to be able to mow the lawns. We are both busy knitting jumpers for various children and babies and also for our nieces and nephews. Gwen also has a plan to do some sewing in the next few days. Mags' plans usually involve a computer! Claire will also arrive from Concepcion tomorrow before she heads off to Ireland on Friday for her break.

The sports teams have been busy

As part of our celebrations we have a project to redo the bathrooms at the Annexe school which haven't been done since they were built! Any profit from the events will be put towards them as well as fundraising things. It will be a long term project since they will cost 10 000pounds.

This comes with our wishes for a joyous Easter remembering the Glorious Resurrection of our Lord.

God Bless and love from
Gwen and Mags
